Home Sweet Home: Documenting the incredible changes to Berlin's most vibrant borough

The world is always changing, that's for certain. But nowhere has seen a faster or more dramatic transformation than Berlin's inner city borough of Neukölln. In recent years, it has become known as one of the German capital's most dynamic and colourful areas, with the variety and contrast making it a great spot for people watching.

For her series Home Sweet Home, Berlin-based photographer Stefanie Schmid Rincon spent three years wandering Neukölln, armed with her camera to take analog black and white photographs of the changing places and people – all thrown together in a wonderful melting pot of life. It just shows the impact of recent people movement, as more families choose Europe as their new home.

From tomorrow, her fascinating series will be on show at Deutsches Haus in New York University.

Stefanie grew up between Colombia and Germany. She moved to Berlin in 2008 where she graduated from Neue Schule für Fotografie Berlin in 2014 and has been working as a freelance photographer for the past five years. Discover more at www.stefanieschmidrincon.com.

Via direct submission | All images courtesy of Stefanie Schmid Rincon
Home Sweet Home: Documenting the incredible changes to Berlin...

http://www.creativeboom.com/inspiration/home-sweet-home-doc...
Home Sweet Home: Documenting the incredible changes to Berlin... http://www.creativeboom.com/inspiration/home-sweet-home-doc...
Home Sweet Home: Documenting the incredible changes to Berlin...

http://www.creativeboom.com/inspiration/home-sweet-home-doc...
Home Sweet Home: Documenting the incredible changes to Berlin...
About The Author - Katy Cowan

A writer, journalist and all-round creative, Katy is Founding Editor of Creative Boom. She launched the site in 2009 to support others, as well as indulge her passion for creativity. She loves to discover and champion emerging art, photography and design. Follow her on Twitter.

Further reading
Jidouhanbaiki: Photo series that explores Japan’s obsession with vending machines
23rd May in Inspiration / Photography

Parallels: Spooky, surreal photography series exists somewhere between reality and dreams
23rd May in Inspiration / Photography

Dusk to Dawn: Photographs that capture the most beautiful places in the world at night
24th May in Inspiration / Photography

Borders & Boundaries: Embroidery art that highlights the world's humanitarian crisis
24th May in Inspiration / Crafts
Miniature versions of Parisian Brutalist buildings made entirely from paper
23rd May in Inspiration / Illustration

Girls: Luo Yang's insightful portraits reveal a new generation of Chinese women
22nd May in Inspiration / Photography

Get the best of Creative Boom delivered to your inbox weekly

Your email... Subscribe
Creative Boom celebrates, inspires and supports creative professionals worldwide. Launched in 2009, we love to explore the very best creativity and offer tips, resources and advice to help you succeed.

©2016 Creative Boom Ltd. Registered in England and Wales #07437294.

Created by Boomerang PR